

BIG GALE TOSSES PRESIDENT GRANT IN TERRIFYING TRIP

Great Liner Fights Raging Storm Till Coal Supply Is Nearly Exhausted.

HAS TO QUIT COURSE.

Arrives After Recoaling at Halifax; Silver Service Rewards Captain.

With her funnels streaked with salt near to their tops and the white rim of the sea coming her for her full length, the Hamburg-American liner President Grant, four days overdue from Hamburg, came into port to-day.
The hurricane from the Arctic Ocean, which nearly swamped the Commodore Carmania and smothered the Caronia out in mid-ocean, also played with the big German ship as its toy.

The President Grant ran into rough weather the minute she got clear of the English Channel, and until Scotland lightship was sighted early to-day there was hardly a lull in the ocean's rough handling. At 11 the gale came from every point of compass, then settled down to blow from the west, dead against the ship. Waves, coming in over the bow, had their tops clipped off by the mainmast and cast their spray clear of the funnel tops.

Then, last Thursday, came the hurricane from the north, which caused such terror aboard the Carmania. The wind climbed up to a 100-mile velocity and the cold was almost killing to Capt.
Meyerdercke and his officers, who had to stand watch on the bridge. They relieved one another in short tricks and the lookouts had to be changed almost every hour, to prevent their freezing to death.

The General Grant's engines were slowed down to a bare three knots—just enough to give the big ship steerage way—during the whole of Thursday's storm, and when a breasting in the weather came on Friday, Capt.
Meyerdercke discovered he was delayed on his schedule that he would not have enough coal to carry him to

New York under a continuation of the rough weather. So on Friday night he altered his course and put for Halifax.
The Nova Scotian port was reached on Saturday and the day spent in taking on deserted the ship in favor of the railroad. Instead, they took up a collection of $200, which will be expended by a committee to-day in securing for the gallant German skipper a testimonial set of silver plates.

The President Grant brought 33 cabin passengers and 622 in the steerage.
Among her cabin passengers was Lord Murray of Elibank, a former Liberal leader in English politics.

The Nieuw Amsterdam of the Holland-America line, also in to-day, caught the rag end of the hurricane which gave the President Grant such a bad time; but the Dutch ship did not suffer the full brunt of the storm. Among her passengers was Paul Ritter, Minister of the Swiss Confederation to this country, his wife and son.

JURY ASKS MERCY FOR MAN WHO TOOK BLUECOAT'S GUN.

Was Protecting His Property When Policeman Attacked Him in Hallway.

Gillies Peoples, a negro, of No. 229 West 84th Street, was convicted before Judge Swann in General Sessions to-day of carrying a revolver under circumstances that led to the jury recommending extreme clemency.
Early in the morning of Oct. 3, Policeman Gallagher of the West Sixty-eighth street station saw Peoples in the hallway of his house guarding some furniture. Peoples said the furniture was his, and when the policeman doubted his word the two fought.
Gallagher drew his revolver which Peoples wrested from him and ran away. Two hours later Gallagher and two other policemen called at Peoples's apartment and asked him to return the revolver. When the negro pulled the revolver from his pocket to return it Gallagher arrested him for violating the Sullivan law.

Judge Swann told the jury that under the Sullivan law the negro was guilty. If he had made his way to the station house at once after getting possession of the revolver and returned it he would not have violated the law.
He will be sentenced Friday.

Rosa Elevator to Top Stories While Building Burns.

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—The bravery of John Hignam, an elevator boy, saved many persons from probable injury during a fire on the water front today. Hignam ran his car up and down a five-story building at No. 247 Atlantic avenue, while several tons of shallow were burning fiercely on the third floor.
Sixty persons were taken down through smoke and flames from the fourth and fifth stories. The fire destroyed the stock of Whittemore, Wright & Co., incorporated, wax and
